“ My Daddy was everything to me. I was his first born and he always called me his number one. He nick named me Scrappy because I was always scrapping and fighting with a couple of neighbor boys when I was a little girl. This name stuck and he was the only one in the world that called me Scrappy. I miss him so awful bad, but I do know that he is not in pain and suffering. We were always very close and I moved in to watch over and take care of him after my brother passed away. I knew how much he needed me and I am glad I did. He never really recovered from the death of my only brother. I know they are up in heaven together again.
