Dear Sarah and Family, I can't imagine reunions without being able to tease Jack about something. His dry wit will long be remembered. I wish you all God's blessings and cherished memories. Jack will be missed.

“ Jack went to work on my father’s farm harvesting crops. He worked all summer and I saw him several times. A very quiet shy young man but a hard worker so my dad liked him. One day his buddy told me Jack wanted to marry me. I looked at him and he had the biggest grin possible. I said well I think I should get to know him first. We went on a few dates and next we knew, one of his sisters had come out from Oklahoma and took him back with her to live with his dad. We wrote letters for months until he made enough money to catch a bus back to California. We were married in December of 1962.
