In my mind's eye, I always see Trisha as she was about age four. She was my little cousin, and I loved her.

I remember how spunky and cheerful she was. The first week in the OU freshman dorm in the evening, several of us pierced our ears on our floor. Of course someone had to do it ----with ice and a sewing needle. Trisha had never done it before but she pierced my ears and the other girls. Mine turned out great ;). I can't remember who pierced her ears but I do remember the next morning she came out in the hall whining and asking for help---she woke with her blanket unpleasantly entangled with new earring! All ended well. Janet Anne Smith Lopez
