“ Michelle, the pain you are suffering is too much for one person to bear, so please know that you are being lifted in prayer by friends who have loved you for decades and would do anything to ease your sorrow. May God cradle you in his grace and comfort you now and in days to come.

“Raemarie; I met you through my daughter Lisa and want it to be known what a remarkable person you were. You made myself and my Grandson feel SO welcome and comfortable ; your love of family and friends was palpable. Not just a beautiful person on the outside but a shining inner beauty, caring and sharing with others like the 4th of July we spent together. God Bless you and may the Angels of the Lord hold you close, erase your tears and dispel the loneliness and heartache that sometimes cripples you without others recognizing it ! You can watch over your children from Heaven and send them butterflies , soft breezes and rainbows to remind them of your love !! God Bless you My Dear, the World will miss your lovely smile.

“We met over 16 years ago. You came to my wedding with infant Kate and from there we were friends for so many years. Shared holidays. Bbq's Fun. Birthday parties with our kids. You were a fantastic mom that I wished I could be. You helped when my kids were young if they were sick and you were home. Your energy and passion was amazing. You balanced me for many years as I worked my way in the corporate world, your words of wisdom and recollection of your life and meaning brought me piece and I loved you. We lost contact for a while but reconnected over the last couple of years. You were an amazing woman, a gentle soul and a guiding spirit. I loved doing homecoming (Kate) with you. Kenzie was so excited to do Kate's pics and be a part of it. I will cherish our memories. Kenz and Kate had so much fun as did Jackson and Lexi when they came around and all went to school together up until this year. Life takes us in different directions and I pray for peace and love for you. Healing and understand from a your friends and family and know that you will truly be missed. Be happy and joyful in heaven and I hope you are one of my angels. I truly love you. Prayers for all the family. Kate and Jackson I am grateful you are in Oklahoma tonhave the support of so many family members along with your dad Justin. Xoxoxo
